

The Things I carry Assignment

After high school graduation my life will change completely. I plan on going to college ^{now!} part time and hopefully becoming a heavy machine operator. After graduation I will bring certain objects with me everywhere I go to help me achieve my goals. I will carry different things to symbolize the physical and emotional weight I'll bring with me.

Many people carry different things because ^{the tangible and intangible items} they help them accomplish things. They also carry ^{these} ~~this~~ because it means a lot to ^{them} ~~some~~ people. The small things I carry are my cell phone and my wallet, because I don't want to take the chance of breaking down and not having any money to get home. Another thing I carry every day is my knife because I always need to cut something with it. The ^{physical, yet also} emotional object that I will carry ^{are} ~~is~~ pictures of my family. My family is very important to me, and they are my biggest supporters. About a year ago my mom gave me a silver chain. The chain is very small, but it means so much to me even though ^{the smallest things are usually the most valuable} it doesn't take up much room at all. All of these objects help me in some way. They make me feel more comfortable, and make me feel like I have someone helping me guide the way. These objects make me a strong person in life ^{and make me feel like I can} ~~they help me~~ achieve my goals in life.

To help me achieve my goals I will carry different things for physical and emotional objects. The different things I carry are not big at all, but they mean a lot more to me because of the emotional value I have towards these objects. These are the different things I would carry after high school graduation.
